PRESENT

A SPECIAL "AT-HOME" EVENT WITH

Ms. Amy Ephron

"A Decade is a State of Mind"

Amy Ephron talks about her work, art, politics, and telling stories set against a period of time.....

Abstract and Biography: Amy Ephron is the author of six acclaimed novels – her latest, the best seller "One Sunday Morning", is out in paperback. In this novel she brilliantly captures the roaring twenties, a tale of wealth, society and scandal. Each of her novels portray a different time period, including her debut book "Cool Shades" set in Los Angeles in the 70's. "A Cup of Tea" won Amy the 2005 Southern California Booksellers Association award for fiction, received the Booklist Best Fiction of the Year 2005 award and was a Barnes and Noble Book Club selection. A national bestseller, spending 37 weeks on the LA Times bestsellers list, "A Cup of Tea" has been bought by film producer Jerry Bruckheimer.

Ephron, a talented journalist, is a frequent contributor to Harper's Bazaar, Vogue, Elle, LA Times, Saveur, National Lampoon, The Realist, LA Weekly, LA Style, and The Huffington Post. As a film executive she worked on "A Little Princess", "Born on the Fourth of July" and "Out of Africa."

Ephron, from a famous Hollywood screenwriting family, is one of the three talented daughters of Henry and Phoebe Ephron. Nora, Amy and Delia were born and raised in Beverly Hills. Amy currently lives in Brentwood with husband Alan Rader and their five children.
